Join Us - New Sessions for Parenting Workshop!

Don’t we all have middle or high school aged children that you we want to listen to us better? If so, then our Parenting in 2 Worlds (P2W) workshops are for you! This curriculum was informed by local American Indian families so we know it will work for you by increasing skills through culture. Not only will you incorporates culture while learning about child and youth development and communication skills, you’ll also have to opportunity to meet and network with other families - all with the same goal of preventing risky situations for our youth. What’s unique about this program? The participants shape each session through sharing culture, stories and connect with each other.

Join us at a location near you for the next session and enjoy a light meal at the same time!
